

The Young Linguist Club held a meeting.

The regular meeting of the Young Linguist Club, affiliated with the Faculty of Philology at Shymkent University and the Council of Young Scientists, took place today.

The main goal of the event was to increase students' interest in language, explain the importance of trilingualism, and develop linguistic culture.

The following presentations were presented at the meeting:

"Trilingualism – the Call of the Times"

The Importance of the Russian Language"

The speakers shared their thoughts on the interconnectedness of languages in a multilingual society, the role of trilingualism in the education system, and the importance of the Russian language in intercultural communication.

The club meeting provided an opportunity for a meaningful exchange of opinions, broadening students' linguistic horizons, and analyzing contemporary linguistic trends.
